I really think this instructor was excellent and there is nothing more I could recommend. I TRULY and HONESTLY mean that.
Enjoyed this course this session, Enjoyed the layout and all.

Maybe just be a little more clear on the group work policies. Yes, they are clearly outlined in the group policy form, but actually figuring out who was in your group or how to go about forming one/reaching out to people was super tricky at first. I had to post on Yellowdig, hoping someone still needed a partner, and I got lucky they did.

It is difficult to find a time to work with students on zoom due to conflicting schedules, it would be helpful if there was another option provided.

Nothing, really like how encouraging my professor is with collaborating work, either group work and individual.
I understand having a group discussion every week and how it's important but I had to miss out on many shifts and other important life things because of these meetings. It's an online class so I feel like we should be fully asynchronous.
I mean maybe having a case study due the same week the big final project is due isnt the easiest thing to manage.

I think the articles should be free for the students.
depend less on the textbook readings
I would suggest less group work or being able to change groups because I was stuck with 3 people who did not help me during this summer course not a single time

I love the weekly announcements, I think the personal messages of encouragement and even the emojis makes it exciting!
The idea of having to work with someone or check in with someone is really good since it holds each other accountable but also create helpful people to have to collaborate with.
I liked how clear instructions are
My professor was amazing with response time and feedback and honestly just being understanding of life happening which made having a summer class on top of my two jobs a lot less stressful!
The case study's are a big reason on why I understood a good majority of the Harvard case's.
Giving good feedback.
responding quickly to students needs
I think the quizzes, the yellowdig, and the case studies were very enjoyable and interesting meaningful, detailed feedback
Group project options make the class more stimulating
Thank you for the helpful feedback on our assignments, when implemented it significantly improved our grade on assignments.
I like how the class was structured, I would not make any changes.
